

TOP PERFORMER REPORT

In order to find your top talent, you have to compare your candidates to the best in class. Results on our assessments are compared to a large norm group of recruitment industry professionals and hand-picked top performers.

The industry-specific assessment compares Olivia to how experienced industry professionals perform everyday tasks and challenges. It focuses on the core dimensions - empathy, focus, result orientation and resilience – and abilities that Criterion have found to be the most universally defining amongst the industry’s top performers.

Top Performer Index for Olivia Hansen

Olivia’s performance on these assessments is slightly above the industry average, scoring within the top 20% of industry professionals. This indicates that she has a good chance of performing well in the role and may deal effectively with the tasks and challenges that come with it. Olivia’s score indicates she has a fairly good chance of becoming a top performer with good management and guidance.

Detailed Results

This detailed breakdown of the four dimensions offers more insight into Olivia’s style of working in the recruitment industry. It’s great for comparing different candidates’ strengths and assessing the kind of support the candidate might need in order to become successful. Please note that many top performers do not score high in all four dimensions. Thus the Top Performer index above is the best for assessing future potential.

Please find instructions on how to use and interpret this report, and how the assessment works here. For more information about the report or other tools please contact us here.